

Evidence of an Adverse Immigration Action against a Parent

Under Maryland law, a parent can designate a standby guardian by means of a written designation in the event of an “adverse immigration action” against the parent. In general, families should be referred to a local immigration legal service provider for assistance in locating evidence of an adverse immigration action.

An “adverse immigration action” includes:

1. Arrest or apprehension by a law enforcement officer for an alleged violation of federal immigration law.

Evidence may include, but is not limited to:

- Printout from Online Detainee Locator System, available at locator.ice.gov. To access this system, an individual must possess the parent’s “Alien Number,” a unique, personally identifiable number assigned by the Department of Homeland Security to noncitizens.
- Department of Homeland Security Notice to Removable Alien to Surrender (“Bag and baggage letter”)
- Warning to Alien Ordered Removed or Deported (Notice to Alien to Depart the United States)

2. Detention or custody by the Department of Homeland Security or a Federal, State or Local agency authorized or acting on behalf of the Department of Homeland Security.

Evidence may include, but is not limited to:

- Printout from Online Detainee Locator System, available at locator.ice.gov
- Immigration detainer for individuals in state custody

3. Departure from the United States under an order of removal, deportation, exclusion, voluntary departure, or expedited removal, or a stipulation of voluntary departure.

Evidence may include, but is not limited to:

- Evidence that the parent has departed the United States (e.g. copy of passport with stamp indicating departure; plane tickets; evidence of location of parent)
- Order of Removal
- Order of Deportation
- Order of Exclusion
- Order granting Voluntary Departure
- Expedited Order of Removal
- Stipulated Order of Removal

4. The denial, revocation, or delay of the issuance of a visa or transportation letter by the Department of State.

Evidence may include, but is not limited to:

- Evidence that the parent has departed the United States (e.g. copy of passport with stamp indicating departure; plane tickets; evidence of location of parent)
- Visa or transportation letter application, and status of application

5. The denial, revocation, or delay of the issuance of a parole document or reentry permit by the Department of Homeland Security.

Evidence may include, but is not limited to:

- Evidence that the parent has departed the United States (e.g. copy of passport with stamp indicating departure; plane tickets; evidence of location of parent)
- Parole or reentry permit application, and status of application

6. The denial of admission or entry into the United States by the Department of Homeland Security

Evidence may include, but is not limited to:

- Evidence that the parent has departed the United States (e.g. copy of passport with stamp indicating departure; plane tickets; evidence of location of parent)
- Evidence of the parent's visa or application for admission, along with denial (e.g. Copy of passport page with visa, and stamp indicating attempted admission or entry)
